RECRUITING TEACHING ASSISTANTS!

What's this Program about?

The Learner will study about Permafrost, Boreal forest, Global warming, Marine and Freshwater ecology, land ecology, Indigenous culture, Immigrant society, and also, the culture and economy in North America including the Arctic from the instructors of University of Alaska, University of Washington, Oregon State University and University of British Columbia. We are going to consider Sustainable society from various aspects, such as environment, economy, community, and culture with comparisons to Japan.

Academic Affairs Department of Student Exchange Division wants TAs for the online program, "Sustainable Development Studies: Nature and Humans in North America" during summer vacation in 2022.

*It will be a great challenge to expand your experience and horizons!
ANYWAY, get info and apply now!*
