

Inter-graduate school class (3-day Intensive lecture in English) «Fundamental Course in Environmental Science »

2022年度後期 大学院共通授業科目 環境科学基礎論 (英語)

Environment Science Development division at Graduate School of Environmental Science (GES) offers a 3-day intensive lecture for fresh master students enrolled at Hokkaido University in the autumn term or the second semester. The course is however open for the existing graduate students, too. Those who are interested in the intensive lecture are welcome to join the course. If fresh students meet with difficulties in course registration before the start of this lecture course, please consult a lecturer during the first lecture on the first day. Further information of the intensive lecture is found from the university's syllabus search website:
